The First Prohibition

The first prohibitive measure was that of the Saxon King Edgar, who, nearly a thousand years ago, on the advice of Bosmund, put down many alehouses, only allowing one to exist in any village or small town, and at the same time laid the draughts of the drinkers. The consumption drinking cup of that day held about two quarts, and Edgar had eight pegs laid at stated distances in each set, leaving positions being imposed on each who drank from one peg to another at each time. Neither the working nor the result of the Act encouraged Edgar's successors to further action, and the next prohibitive legislation on the sale of liquor is due to Henry VIII, who, by an Act against vagabonds and the beggars in the year 1530, gave power to any two justices of the peace to stop the common selling of strong ale in towns and any other places than they thought necessary.

The Alternatives

You either enlist or you don't enlist.
If you don't enlist you have nothing to worry about, but if you do enlist you have two alternatives—get in either in

The Coming Patriotic Fund Campaign

The third campaign for the Patriotic Fund will soon be before our people.
The demands upon the fund grow heavier as the volunteers increase. The fund must not be better this year than it did last year. The burden is greater, and we must bear a larger share of it. It is true that we have more than met the other requirements assigned in the past, and if we make a similar record this year there will be no complaint.

In giving to the Patriotic Fund there are many shirkers and these should be made to realize their responsibility. We can't force them to pay a cent. It is possible that we might shame them into paying, though in some cases men are prepared to be convinced by the other members of the fund. We must make them feel that they are giving to the fund, and that they are giving to the fund.

One fault with a great many of our people at the present time is that they have become somewhat lax in their patriotic effort. They feel that it is giving well with the allies and cease worrying about our problems. We must shake off that feeling. Now is the moment when we must stand firmly and manfully behind our country and our men. There must be no lagging in the line. We must show a steady front against the enemy, and those of us at home can do it by steadily lacking up the boys in the trenches.

Then we have the people who say they are tired of giving. They wonder how many they have actually given. Have they given a loved one yet? Not likely.
Their money is gone, but they have not given a cent. People must give until a heart-sore order to a real soldier. A man has no more right to say that he is tired of giving than the man at the front has to say that he is tired of fighting. There is no limit to the duty of the citizen.
The long winter campaign the men will have to go through. They will need to ask the boys. They will need to ask the boys. They will need to ask the boys.

Lethbridge will raise the $20,000 assigned it, and by united effort and proper supervision of the great needs of the fund, all as much again can be added to it—Lethbridge Herald.

It is not so much money as work which is urgently needed. To a wounded soldier money is useless, but a bandage might save his life. The high rate of preventable mortality in previous wars due to unorganized Red Cross work is suggestive and almost unbelievable.

In the Crimean war the prevention of preventable deaths was 25 to 1, in the American Civil War 10 to 1, and in the Boer war 10 to 1. These facts should be a spur to every woman at home to give the most of her time and labor. It is a woman's misfortune if she has not some one at the front, her fault if she has vented some man from doing his duty there, but it is criminal if she is not doing all she can in Red Cross work and organizing soldiers in this to do the duty of the front.

When we are at the front and hundreds and thousands of our men were suffering, could not every woman and child be doing their best to alleviate the suffering?
Why not also when the borders of war are removed some distance—News-Telegram.

There will be no meeting of the local Patriotic Fund committee on Monday night next.

Disabled Canadian Soldiers

What is Being Done To Restore Their Ability

The Military Hospital Commission at Ottawa informs us that 2,081 soldiers were in care at the beginning of the month. Of these, 500 are at the front for hospitalization, and 1,610 at Canadian Hospitals, 682 of the latter belonging to the military hospital. Of the force were in hospitals for the month.
Of the 430 cases of intertrench, it may be added, about exactly half were discharged in time to prevent them from leaving Canada for the front war.

According to a statement prepared by the Military Department, up to October 5, 1916, the number of soldiers sent back to Canada because of medical unfitness was 6,328. Of these, 961 were suffering from wounds, shell-shock, or the effect of gas; 122 were insane; 245 were afflicted with intertrench; while the remainder, 4,800, were suffering from other diseases and debilities.

All Canadians ought to know what is being done by the Military Hospital Commission, acting on behalf of the whole body of citizens, for the restoration of their wounded defenders to a position of self-sufficiency and usefulness.

permitting.

requested to give such information to the postmaster at Cowley.

There may be some news which is not generally known, and it is promation of the public.

The concert given last Wednesday night by the Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church, was a decided success, though the bad weather and route probably hurt the attendance. The great variety of the numbers on the programme, ranging from Vauclaire to Shakespearean drama kept the audience in good humor. Rev. Chalmers showed decided tri-lingual ability; while musical sketches by Miss Wells and Fred Ruston were a decided hit. A McArthur and his Lena and Miss Jackson, of Finch Creek, kindly gave their assistance in furnishing a large part of this good programme.

Coleman Opera House

ONE NIGHT FRIDAY, DEC. 1st ONE NIGHT

EGG MY HEART

Down at the Coleman Opera House on the night of Friday, December 1st, the really interesting production of "Egg of My Heart" will be presented by the United Producing Company. Of the supreme delight of comedy success which runs for two years at the Cort Theatre in New York, this introduction is needed, but it is necessary to introduce the present producing company, and to say that it is a revelation is not an exaggeration. Many of the high-priced road companies in larger productions have been vastly inferior, and no objectives of crime are so strong to describe, the excellent work of the nine characters who stage the comedy. Dorothy LaVerne, a genuinely wise woman from the Emerald Isle, with her ability sufficient to ultimately secure her the "three-foot-high" electric name lights and the stellar role in a manner which wins all hearts. She is clever to a marked degree, and in her work she is fully supported by the other members of the company, who seem to have been selected for their personal and physical adaptability for the characters they portray. William Sauter as "Jerry," Verne DuBois as "Alaric," Nelson McKenna as "Montgomery Hawley," and Kathryn Heddley as "Miss Chatterbox," are all especially clever people, and, in fact, every member of the cast is well adapted. Well-timed humor has greeted the juvenile audience all along the tour, and equally good patter was assured them on their visit. To Coleman next week, "Egg" comes to England and falls unannounced in the midst of an English family of aristocratic relatives with strict traditions. She walks into the library with her slinky traveling bag in her hand and her shabby, though real, dog under her arm. It seems she was killed on the Continent by a relative just dead. She is a daughter of a common sister of the family, who married beneath her station and went off to America. "Egg" has had no advantage, except poverty, which lets her see something of life. Her Irish father whom she describes as the best man in the world, gave her a quiet lesson and her wit, but very little else—except her looks, which are quite out of the ordinary. The light and dark of contrast between the convention period of the Chatterbox and natural "Egg" forms the basis for the humorous situations in the play. "Egg" falls in love with Sir Gerald, a young executor of the will which has provided for "Egg," whom she gets to know under the name of Jerry. She makes him take her to a dance which she is forbidden to attend, and afterwards stops her cousin from running away with a married man with whom she is infatuated.

Ant To Jug-Handle Patriotism in Canada

It is certainly up to our French fellow subjects in Quebec to get on a big move to get more recruits into the fight for the cause of Right and Democracy the world over. In that province of more than 1,500,000 people, only 100,000 volunteers have come forward for the cause of liberty, justice and humanity. Approximately one half of this number has been recruited in the English-speaking sections of that province. It is up to legal French leaders of both political parties to commence a campaign of recruiting in Quebec that will remove the disgrace that the French of the Province of Quebec are not willing to do their share in this terrible war. If a few thousand leaders in that province are to be followed, and indeed, even in this British Empire, then there is a danger that we will all regret, at a disconcerting kind growing up between Quebec and the rest of the Dominion.

"The Girl He Couldn't Buy"

"The Girl He Couldn't Buy," another Sherman attraction, will be presented at the Blairmore Opera House on Thursday, December 7th, and Coleman Opera House, Wednesday, December 6th.

For dramatic interest and full-fledged comedy, this play outstrips any former production sent over the western circuit. It is the play which today is causing a sensation all over America. It is a combined entertainment of thrills and laughs. A unique combination of comedy and melodrama.

The story is that of a pretty girl who pretends a larger than life-size hero in her lodge, even at the risk of her reputation. He in turn pretends her from a wealthier crook who seeks to get her into his power. A bold stroke, planned by the manager and executed by him and the girl, forces her prosecutor to let her alone and to make restitution for the valuable property he has stolen from her father. It is impossible to describe the many interesting and unique scenes that fill every moment of this great play.

Sherman attractions have gained great favor in the west during the last few months and this play will come here bearing the same guarantee that is attached to all his productions. A splendid cast will be presented and it can be depended it will be one of the hits of the season.

The "Negatives," led by W. H. Chapnell, won in the debate held last night in the Oddfellows' hall under the auspices of the Blairmore Social Club. The subject was "Resolved that heredity is more potent than environment in the formation of character." J. F. Hunter led the "affirmative," supported by C. R. Pearson and H. Green, while W. H. Chapnell was supported by John Loughnan and G. A. Leis. During the evening musical selections were rendered by Miss M. Williams and Mr. J. C. Crawford, and Miss Taylor of Hillcrest, rendered several songs. Mrs. J. R. Smith and Messrs. J. C. Roudreau and W. Shaw acted as judges.

Even Hospital Treatment For Kidney Disease Failed

Well-Known Commercial Traveller Says That Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Undoubtedly Cured Him

News of his recovery from kidney disease will be welcome to the thousands of the United States.

Mr. Griffin has travelled this section for 35 years and what he says will be accepted as proven by all who know him best.

He tells in his letter how relief was obtained by treatment in Sherbrooke and Montreal hospitals, but the old kidney trouble returned again and again until the persistent use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cured him.

Mr. L. D. Griffin, Hulwer, Compton County, Quebec, writes: "I can add one more statement of kidney disease cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. For about twenty years I was bothered more or less with the kidneys, then the trouble became worse and I was sick in bed for one year, took doctors' medicine to no avail, and on his advice went to Sherbrooke, where I was treated for a few days, but the old trouble returned and I tried a Montreal hospital. Got a little better, but the trouble was only temporary, and I was soon bad again. One of my friends advised me to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I did so. I have been free from kidney disease as I ever was in my life. I owe the cure to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, for they undoubtedly did the best. I am 68 years old and have spent 35 years as a traveller calling on the drug trade. Everywhere I am told that Dr. Chase's medicines are the best sellers and give the best satisfaction of any medicines on the market. Shall be glad to answer any questions in regard to my cure if people care to write me.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are sold by all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Company, Limited, Toronto.

Every careful and observant mother knows when her child suffers from worms. She also knows that if some remedy be not speedily applied much harm will result to the child. The best application that can be got is Miller's Worm Powders. They drive worms from the system and set up stimulating and soothing effects, so that the child's progress thereafter is painless and satisfactory.

Every Soldier to Carry Two Discs In future each officer and soldier in the British army will be equipped with two identity discs, to be suspended from the neck.

Though no explanation of the order for the innovation is given, it is thought that the idea is to use the second disc for the preservation of the identity of a body, after the first is removed for the purpose of casualty lists.

The second disc will be suspended by six inches of cord from the upper, the former being red and the latter green.

The Bishop took a personal interest in all his servants, and happened to pass the new maid, on his way through the back hall to the kitchen one day, he stopped to speak to her. "Well, child," he said, "and where are you?"

"If you please, my Lord," the maid replied, with a curtsy, "between the cook and the housemaid."

"Heaven help you!" said the Bishop after a moment's thought, and went on his way.

Booms Peace River

Lady Representative of Alberta's London Offices Delighted

Pointing glowingly to the future of the Peace River district as the "completing of Canada," Miss Beatrice Naismith, attached to the offices of the Alberta government in London, England, told of how she travelled 1,000 miles by rail and 200 miles by motor car through the region. Miss Naismith is on her way back to England.

Life was just one beautiful view after another. We would come to great natural park where the jack pines grew and then into open spaces perhaps fifty miles square, never saw such wonderful flora and vegetation.

Speaking of the Canadian women who have followed their husbands to England, Miss Naismith said: "England just now is simply filled with Canadian women. Many came originally from the old land, and their husbands came here, and they just packed up and went over, by the way, they are certainly having a swell time, if spending their money freely counts for anything."—Winnipeg Free Press.

Pa's Temptations "Pa, with all his money, will never let us take our rightful place in life."

"Why, he's most indulgent. He has just bought the family a magnificent coat."

"Yes, but unless we watch him all the time he can't resist the temptation to take on a few paying passengers as he rides around."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Steady Pressure

British Achievements on the Western Front

Combes and Thiepval are in fact the names of vast series of strategic works which the best brains and the unceasing labour of the Germans have spent almost all their strength on. The Germans, who had been meditating a war of this kind for years, adapted at the construction of such works long before we understood how to attack them. They armed this line with a tremendous artillery, and a superbly directed system of hosts of their choicest troops. We have driven them from it. That is the real meaning of their official apology, and the real reason for the triumph felt by our men at the front. They know, as the German general staff know, that the vast system of underground works which we have taken was a far more formidable defence than the strongest of the famous fortresses along the Belgian frontier. They know that the advance of half a mile, or of a mile, which looks so very small on the map as compared with the distance to the frontiers, means the infliction of exhausting deaths on the enemy in the trenches, the slaughter of numbers of his troops, and the capture of quantities of his guns and stores of ammunition.

"Well, Bill!" A capital yarn is going the rounds about the Duke of Connaught, which is too good as a piece of fiction to be true.

When opening a new rifle range in Manitoba, His Royal Highness was invited to fire the first shot. Something distracted him as he fired, and he missed the target. The duke, who was standing next to him, fired the shot, and it was a bad miss. When the target was brought along for inspection it was found, however, that the bullet hole was in the center of the target.

The Duke was much amused, but he found out afterwards that the range officer had prepared it the night before.

Farmers Should Keep Accounts

Locating Profitable Parts of the Business and the Lines That Do Not Pay

Most farmers who make much progress keep accounts. They figure monthly, and they know exactly how much they can tell about how they paid out. They know how much it costs them to grow corn, oats and wheat. They know how much interest they are making on their investments.

Most farmers who make much progress keep accounts. They figure monthly, and they know exactly how much they can tell about how they paid out. They know how much it costs them to grow corn, oats and wheat. They know how much interest they are making on their investments.

The great trouble with farm accounts is that they are not kept. The farmer who does not keep accounts is like the man who does not keep a diary. He does not know where he is going, and he does not know where he has been.

During the summer when work in the fields requires long days of attention, too many men do not hit on a system of accounts which allows an analysis of the business at the end of the year. Accounts must be kept in a systematic way, and they must be kept in a systematic way.

What We Work At The latest official statistics of the 1911 Canadian census gives the following for men and women engaged in their occupations, and is as follows:

It is pointed out that while in 1911 agriculture gave employment to 48 per cent. of the paid workers, in 1901 it only had 34.3 per cent.

Lightning Don'ts

What Not To Do During a Thunderstorm

If you find yourself indoors during a thunderstorm, don't go near a window. It is dangerous. Keep away from the chimney. Don't touch anything in the vicinity of the telephone, and don't touch anything in the vicinity of the telephone.

If a house be struck by lightning, there are places where you should not go. It is safe. The death-dealing agent may penetrate anywhere, rendering escape impossible. But some places, such as those above mentioned, are more dangerous than others.

Out of doors, in a thunderstorm, the safest place is in a hole in the ground. Lightning may strike a tree, but it is not likely to be the one under which you have taken shelter. On the other hand, under such circumstances, the most foolish thing you can do is to stand beneath an isolated tree. Some people are foolish enough to go a long distance from a building, and stand nearly in the open as a dangerous place.

Never go into a wood fence in a thunderstorm. Even in a house that has no lightning rods, it is better to stay in a room with a better chance of escaping injury or death.

Extracting Oil From Fish Waste

Conservation Commission Will Assist in Commercial Possibilities of This Material

The Conservation Commission has established a research station at Port Dover, in order to ascertain what commercial use can be made of the waste material of fish.

The waste material of fish is a very valuable material, and it is a very valuable material. The waste material of fish is a very valuable material, and it is a very valuable material.

It is probable that the residue after the oil has been extracted may be utilized still further, the parts of the fish, as a feed and the remainder as a fertilizer.

After sufficient data have been secured, the Government, it is expected, will discontinue the station, but all available information will be placed at the disposal of the local fishermen, who may then establish a commercial plant of sufficient capacity to handle the material.

The research station is in charge of J. B. Fielding, until lately scientific adviser in the Ontario Fisheries Department, whose knowledge of the fish industry in Great Britain, France, Japan and Germany.
